Why Motherina?

Because we understand that SHE is as important as HER BABY

Pregnancy is one of the most thrilling yet challenging times in a woman's life, and what follows is even tough. The first 40 days after giving birth are particularly demanding for the mother since she is still mentally and physically recovering from the delivery while also taking care of the baby as it adjusts to life outside the womb. During this period of uncertainty, most mothers and those around her unintentionally forget that her body, like the baby, has undergone a rebirth, and all of her emotions and feelings are valid too. She is just as important as her baby.

At Motherinacare, we understand that she has a thousand questions racing through her mind.

"When will I get back my pre-pregnancy body?"

"Am I lactating enough?" "Am I being a good mother?"

We are here to help her find the answers to them all under one roof.

We provide compassionate and focused care to new mothers with a wide range of postnatal products, and industry expert-backed services, educating and guiding them through every stage of new motherhood.
